Dear Ms. Hermann,

I inform you that I withdraw my application for the position of Sales Manager within your company. As I told you during our meeting, lately I have been exploring more career opportunities and I decided to accept a position within an international health foundation that was offered to me a few days ago. Although I find extremely challenging the perspective of working for your company, I think that the employment offer I have accepted fits better the career path I want to follow.

Thank you very much for considering me for the position of Sales Manager and for having taken the time to interview me. I enjoyed our meeting and learning so many things about your company. I assure you of my deepest respect and I wish you and your team all the best.

Sincerely yours,

Daniel Novak
